URGENT!

20 March Press Conference Postponed

Please note that the press conference scheduled for 2:00 PM today (20 March) at UN House in Tokyo has been postponed until a later date.

This press conference, organized by United Nations University (UNU) and the Asian Conservation Alliance (ACA), was intended to introduce the pilot phase of a collaborative project to develop a Wildlife Enforcement Monitoring System. Unfortunately, however, a delay in the project preparations requires postponement of the official public announcement. We will inform you of further developments.

We apologize for the short notice, and regret any inconvenience this may cause you.

If you have questions, you may contact Naoko Yano, UNU Office of Communications (tel: 03-5467-1311; e-mail: media@unu.edu).

MEDIA ALERT

United Nations University (UNU) is an autonomous organ of the UN General Assembly dedicated to generating and transferring knowledge and strengthening capacities relevant to global issues of human security, development, and welfare. The University, which opened in September 1975, operates through a worldwide network of research and training centres and programmes coordinated by UNU Centre in Tokyo.
